Head Coach Moe Ankney

Howard M. "Moe" Ankney, Bowling Green State University's 13th head football coach, believes in Falcon football, its past, its present and its future.

"Bowling Green football is strong, and Bowling Green football is respected across the country. When our players put on the Bowling Green uniform, they are eager to go out and uphold that winning tradition."

Those are Ankney's words as he enters the 1987 season at Bowling Green, his second at the successful Mid-American Conference school.

Ankney was appointed head football coach at Bowling Green on December 30, 1985. For him, it marked a return to his alma mater. He was a quarterback under the legendary Doyt L. Perry from 1961-63 before graduating in 1964. During his 15-year collegiate coaching career, Ankney has made coaching stops at Ball State, Tulane and Arizona, coached in several major bowl games, and developed a reputation for coaching excellent defensive teams.

Heading into the 1987 season at Bowling Green, Ankney continues to be a believer in strong defense. "The thing I like about our team is that I think we will be strong defensively. You need to have a good defense to win the championship."

Ankney's Falcons relied on a big-play defense and an improving offense to get the job done in 1986. Bowling Green's 5-6 overall record was only part of the story last season. Ankney had his Falcons in the race for the MAC title from a season-opening win over Ohio University to a season-ending loss at Toledo. The Falcons finished 5-3 in the MAC, tied for second, only one game behind conference champion Miami.

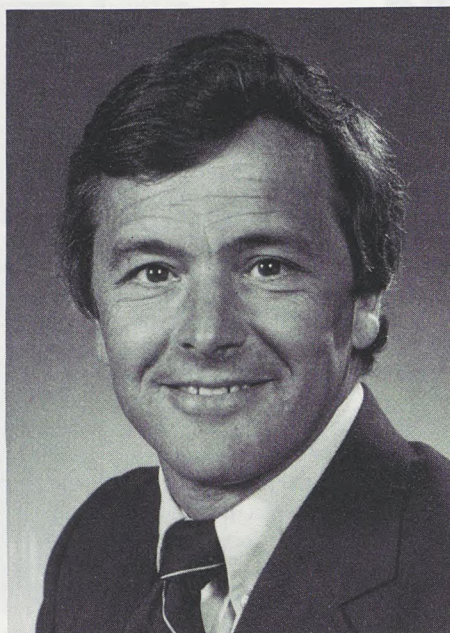

"Last year, we had a 5-6 record," Ankney said. "That doesn't live up to the winning tradition of Bowling Green football. Our coaches and our players are determined to get Bowling Green football back to where it should be."

Ankney joined the Falcons after serving six seasons as the assistant head coach, defensive coordinator and secondary coach at the University of Arizona of the Pacific-10 Conference. His defensive teams finished among the national leaders from 1982-85. He coached the Pac-10's leading tackler in each of those years.

In returning to his alma mater, Ankney left a long-time coaching associate and friend, Arizona Head Coach Larry Smith. Like Ankney, Smith is a Bowling Green graduate, and the two coached together for 10 seasons. Smith, now head coach at the University of Southern California, said of Ankney, "He was my right hand and right arm for 10 years and a friend for much longer than that."

Prior to joining the Arizona staff in 1980, Ankney was Smith's defensive coordinator and secondary coach at Tulane for four seasons between 1976-79. And before that, he was the secondary coach at Ball State from 1971-75 under the late Dave McClain.

At each stop, Ankney was instrumental in helping to rebuild struggling programs. While at Ball State, the Cardinals improved their record from 4-5-1 in 1971 to 9-2 in 1975. At Tulane, Ankney helped the Green Wave from a 2-9 record in 1976 to a 9-2 mark and a berth in the Liberty Bowl in 1979. The Arizona Wildcats were 5-6 in 1980 and improved their record to 8-3-1 in 1985, including a 13-13 tie with Georgia in the Sun Bowl.

Among his former players now in the National Football League are Denver Broncos' linebacker Ricky Hunley and Cleveland Browns' defensive back Al Gross. More than 20 of his former players have gone on to professional football.

Ankney began coaching on the high school level. He was an assistant football and wrestling coach at Eaton High School for the 1964-65 seasons and then became head coach at Dayton Northridge in 1966. He moved on to Dayton Wayne High School as head coach in football and tennis in 1967 and stayed until 1971 when he joined the Ball State staff. His five-year head coaching record in the high school ranks stands at 24-21-5. While coaching in the Dayton area, Ankney earned his master's degree from Miami University in 1969.

Ankney, 45, a native Ohioan, grew up in Xenia before moving to Kettering as a high school senior. A 1960 Fairmont High School graduate, he was an all-state quarterback and a participant in the Ohio All-Star game.

At BGSU, Ankney played on two MAC Championship teams as a reserve quarterback under Coach Doyt Perry. The Falcons went 23-5-1 from 1961-63. Ankney completed eight of 19 passes for 75 yards and earned two letters at Bowling Green.

While an undergraduate, Ankney earned election to Omicron Delta Kappa, a leadership honorary, Phi Alpha Theta, a history honorary, and Kappa Delta Pi, an education honorary.

He has said that his decision to attend Bowling Green was heavily influenced by his cousin, Bob Colburn, quarterback and captain of Coach Perry's 1959 national championship team.

Raised in a football family, his uncle Pete was head coach at Fairmont High School. Pete Ankney also was a head coach at Canton McKinley High School and at the University of Dayton. Moe's father, Ben, coached at Miami University and at Xenia High School.

Moe and his wife, Carlalee, are the parents of three children: Angela, 23, Andy, 22 and Molly, 18. Howard Milton Ankney was born June 23, 1942.

Ankney led the '86 Falcons to a second-place tie in the MAC.

Q. "Now that you have a year under your belt as head coach at Bowling Green, any surprises, any lessons learned during the past year which will benefit you in 1987?"

ANKNEY: "There were not any big surprises. I think that I was pretty well prepared to be a head coach. It was a difficult first year, mainly because all people resist change. A change in the coach and a change in the coaching staff was difficult for our football players here at Bowling Green. They handled it real well, and I appreciate how well they accepted the new staff and me as the head coach.

"The thing that made it different than most coaching changes was that there had been so much success here over the last three years. These kids didn't see any reason to change anything. And yet, I could not come in here and be Denny Stolz. I had to be me. I am a completely different coach from Denny Stolz. They had to adjust. It was a tough year for them, and it was a tough year for me and the coaching staff."

Q. "How does this year's team compare with last year's team in terms of personnel, their skill and talent?"

ANKNEY: "Offensively, we have a lot of skill coming back. Last year, we thought we had skilled people, but they had never played. Now we have players who not only have skill but have experience."

Q. "What about the offensive line?"

ANKNEY: "Last year at this time, we felt the offensive line was the strength of the team. We had a lot of returning players. This year, it's the opposite. This year, the offensive line is probably the weak link in our football team. On the other hand, I feel good about our offensive line. Even though we don't have the talent there that we've had in the past, from what we saw this spring, we have the players to get the job done. As a unit, our offensive line is going to develop into a better offensive line than what we had last year. That may not be the case early, but as the season goes along, if they continue to improve, we'll have a better offensive line by mid-season."

Q. "You said before spring practice that one of your goals would be to develop confidence in your rushing game. Did you achieve that goal?"

ANKNEY: "I think we accomplished that goal. I think everybody on our team, the coaches, the offense and defense, feels that we can move the ball on the ground better than we did last year. That will really help us as we get into the season."

Q. "Moving over to defense, your assistant coaches seem very encouraged about the prospects for your aggressive, forcing type of defense, especially from your front seven players on the line and at linebacker. Are you as optimistic as your assistants?"

ANKNEY: "Overall, the defense should be a real strong part of our team. If they continue to improve and get more accustomed to playing the defense, they will develop the intimidating and aggressive type of play that we want. Last year, we felt our defense was good after spring ball, but we may have been misled because I think our offense wasn't that good. That made our defense look a lot better. We're a little bit hesitant now to get too excited about our defense; you're only playing against your own offense all the time. But based on what we've seen and based on how these kids played last year, we should have a very good defense. We'll be very disappointed if we don't have a very good defense.

"One thing about our defense. Last year, we did pretty well. But mainly, they did well because of the big play. They made big plays throughout the season, and saved us time after time after time. I hope we're a big play team again. On the other hand, I hope we're a more consistent defense, where we don't have to come up with the big play to save our butts every time."

Q. "Your special teams. Is it safe to say you were concerned about the punting game at the end of spring practice?"

ANKNEY: "I'm real pleased with the punting as a team. Our punt team is going to be good. We were much better this spring than we were last year. We have a lot of guys coming back, and we are way, way ahead of last year as far as our punt team is concerned.

"The concern that I have is with the punter. We're hoping that Mark Bongers will come back after the summer and be in a much better punting groove than he was in the spring. It's difficult for kickers to get excited about spring practice."

Q. "Let's talk about your schedule for 1987. Probably the most popular question before your September 5 season-opener will be: 'How does it feel to be opening against Penn State, the defending national champion?'"

ANKNEY: "In spring practice, we didn't talk about Penn State at all until the meeting after our spring game. At the end of that meeting, we talked about Penn State and our approach to that game. It's our first game of the season. It's just like any other sport... you can't win 'em all unless you win the first one. So our approach to the game is that we want to beat Penn State. We're going to go all out to win that football game.

"I look at that game as both an opportunity and a challenge. It's a great opportunity to play a defending national champion. That may be a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for our team and even our coaches. We don't want to screw that up."

Q. "One more question about your non-conference schedule. I would imagine you're looking forward to returning to Tucson to play the University of Arizona on October 3. Any comments about that trip?"

ANKNEY: "That's a real coincidence. I remember when I was at Arizona and looking at the future schedules, Bowling Green was on there in 1987. I remember thinking what a great thing that was, because we had some Bowling Green people involved there. Now, Larry (Smith, former head coach) is not there any more. Not only him but almost all the people I coached with have gone to Southern California. That's taken some of the "Homecoming" quality out of the game. But my daughter lives out there, her husband, and of course I still have lots of friends who live in Tucson. So, it will be fun for me, personally, to go out there.

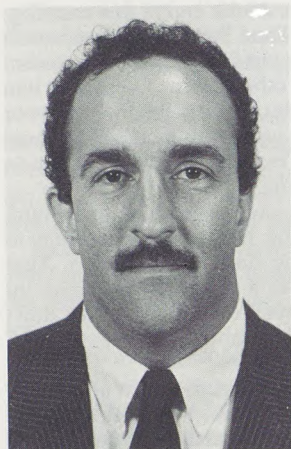

"As far as their team, they are similar to Penn State. The big difference is that it's right in the middle of our season. I don't like that game in the middle of the season. If it was at the very end of the season or at the beginning of the season, before or after we got into our conference schedule, I'd like that game a lot better. Playing that game in the middle of the season and playing it so far away from home is a real problem for our football team."

Q. "A question about the MAC schedule. You were in the MAC title race right to the end last season. Where do you see Bowling Green fitting into the MAC puzzle in 1987?"

ANKNEY: "The conference will be a wide open affair. It will be really hard for me to predict the top three or four teams. I see almost any team in the conference having a chance to win it. We will be a better team than we were last year, and if we have some luck along the way, we will be competitive and in the conference race right to the end. I could also see just about every other coach in the conference saying the same thing.

"The thing that I like about our team is that I think we will be strong defensively. You need to have a good defense to win the championship. I think you need a good kicking game to win the championship. I'm not sure we have that yet. Offensively, you need to have the experienced quarterback. We have that. The other thing is luck. I've always been kind of lucky, so maybe we'll be lucky enough to do it."

A native of Muncie, Indiana, Humes earned three letters as an inside linebacker at Ball State University. He was selected second team All-Mid-American Conference his senior year, graduating in 1976.

Humes is no stranger to Bowling Green, having spent one year as a graduate assistant coach under Don Nehlen in 1976. He returned to Ball State in 1977 as a graduate assistant under Dave McClain. While still at Ball State, Humes coached the offensive line for two seasons before taking over the linebackers under Dwight Wallace. He joined the coaching staff at Miami University in 1984 and spent two years with the Redskins before moving on to Wisconsin in 1986.

Kurt and his wife Pam, a 1977 BGSU graduate, have a son Tanner, 8, and two daughters, Jessica, 5, and Rachel, 3.

Terry Malone
Tight Ends and Offensive Tackles

Terry Malone, 27, is responsible for the tight ends and tackles on the offensive line. Now in his second year under Moe Ankney, Malone is in charge of scouting and breaking down game films. He also serves as BGSU's strength coach and recruits the Detroit suburbs, Cincinnati and the junior colleges. Last season, he coached second team all-conference tackle Mark Nelson and honorable mention All-MAC tight end Gerald Bayless, a 1986 Blue-Gray Game participant.

Malone joined the Falcon staff after one season as an assistant coach at Holy Cross College in Worcester, Massachusetts. He graduated from Detroit Central Catholic High School in 1978 and was a four-year starting tight end at Holy Cross. Malone earned all-New England honors in 1982 and also captained the '82 team. He graduated from Holy Cross in 1983 with a degree in history.

A graduate assistant coach at the University of Arizona in 1983-84, he worked with the offensive line and earned a degree in secondary education. Malone then returned to his alma mater for one year before he arrived at BGSU in 1986.

Malone, who is single, was born February 26, 1960 in Buffalo, New York.

Assistant Coaches

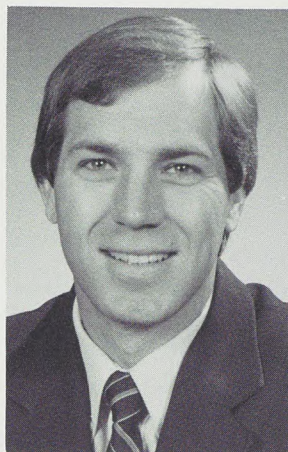

Mike Mangili
Defensive Backfield

Mike Mangili, 33, is in his second year as an assistant coach at Bowling Green. However, 1987 marks the first year for Mangili as the defensive backfield coach. Last season, he was in charge of the outside linebackers, including unanimous first team all-conference pick John Hunter. Mangili also is in charge of player relations and recruits the Columbus area.

A native of Stockton, California, Mike had an outstanding football, basketball and baseball career at Stockton's St. Mary's High School. He attended California State-Sacramento, graduating with a degree in biology in 1978. He was a two-year letterman on the offensive line.

Mangili spent six seasons at Stockton, California's Amos Alonzo Stagg High School where he rose from junior varsity coach to defensive coordinator. He later became a graduate assistant coach at the University of Arizona in 1983, working with the defensive backs until his appointment at Bowling Green.

Mike and his wife Lauren, who recently earned her master's degree in health promotion from BGSU, reside in Bowling Green.

Mark Miller
Offensive Coordinator,
Quarterbacks and Receivers

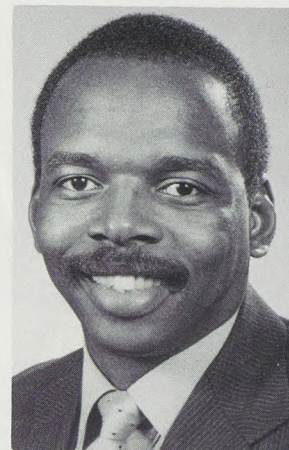

Mark Miller, 30, was named offensive coordinator last spring after coaching the quarterbacks and receivers in 1986. Miller has coached the receivers since 1983. Prior to that, he was a part-time assistant coach in 1982. Among the Falcons he has coached are all-conference receivers Stan Hunter and Greg Meehan and 1986 Sporting News "True Freshman" honoree, QB Rich Dackin.

Miller also serves as the team's academic supervisor in cooperation with BGSU's Director of Academic Affairs Dr. Pat Cleveland. Miller recruits the Akron-Canton area.

A 1974 graduate of Canton South High School, Miller was a record-setting quarterback at BGSU from 1974-77. He earned first team All-MAC honors as a senior and set numerous BGSU passing and total offense records which stood until QB Brian McClure entered the picture in 1982. Tri-captain of the Falcon team as a senior, Miller finished his collegiate career with 455 pass completions in 851 attempts. He threw for 5,919 yards and 33 touchdowns while gaining 6,329 yards in total offense.

Following graduation, Miller was drafted and signed by the Cleveland Browns. He spent two seasons in Cleveland as a back-up to Brian Sipe. After a season with the Green Bay Packers, Miller was a quarterback on the 1983 USFL Champion Michigan Panthers.

Born August 13, 1956, Mark and his wife Barb, a former BGSU cheerleader, are the parents of Zachary, 6, and Adam, 3. Mark is also very active in the BGSU chapter of Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Reggie Oliver
Offensive Backfield

Reggie Oliver, 35, is a veteran staff member with three seasons under his belt at Bowling Green. The offensive backfield coach, he has coached two all-conference running backs at BGSU, Bernard White and George Schmelzle. He also supervises relations with professional scouts and recruits the Michigan cities of Detroit and Flint.

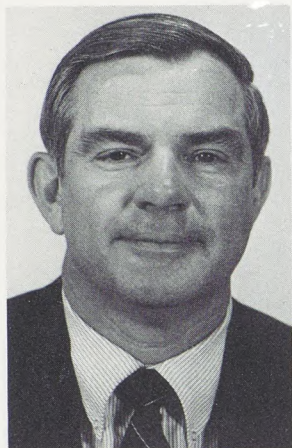

Oliver came to Bowling Green after five years as an assistant coach at Marshall University in Huntington, WV. Prior to that, he was an assistant football and assistant baseball coach at Huntington High School.

A native of Tuscaloosa, Alabama, Oliver is a 1970 graduate of Druid High School in Tuscaloosa where he was a teammate of the Pittsburgh Steelers' John Stallworth. Reggie graduated from Marshall in 1975 after earning three letters as a quarterback and earned honorable mention All-America honors in 1973. He was Marshall's Outstanding Back that year, while being named one of the "Outstanding College Athletes of America" in 1972 and 1973. He held a number of game, season and career passing marks upon graduation.

Oliver was signed by the Jacksonville Sharks of the World Football League in 1974 and finished eighth in the league in passing. In a nationally televised game that season, Reggie threw for over 300 yards against the Philadelphia Bell and was named the game's MVP. He later had a try-out with the Dallas Cowboys after twice earning WFL Player of the Week honors.

The upbeat and enthusiastic leader of Bowling Green's "Real Estate Company", Oliver was born October 20, 1951, and is single.

Assistant Coaches

Bob Reublin
Offensive Line

Bob Reublin, 48, begins his second season as Bowling Green's offensive line coach. Relaxed in his manner and respected as both a teacher and a coach, Reublin adds experience and maturity to the Falcon football staff. Last season, he coached all-conference guard Mike Estep and tackle Mark Nelson. He also performs numerous administrative duties and recruits the west side of Cleveland.

A 1961 BGSU graduate, Reublin was a football letterman under legendary Coach Doyt Perry. As a fullback, he played on Bowling Green's 1959 UPI College Division national championship team. The following season, he was BG's second-leading ground gainer with 379 yards. He also lettered in track and was an outstanding student.

After a stint with the New York Giants, Reublin served with the Falcons as a graduate assistant. He was later named head football coach at Sandusky High School, where he posted a record of 26-4 during the 1966-68 seasons. Two of his teams were ranked in the top three in the state.

In 1969, Reublin became the offensive coordinator at Miami University and stayed until 1974, when he joined Bill Mallory as defensive coordinator at Colorado University. Reublin remained at Colorado until 1979.

He was involved in private enterprise for six years before returning to his alma mater in 1986.

Bob and his wife Mary Lou are the parents of four daughters, Susie, 25, twins Nancy and Patsy, 24, and Cathy, 22.

Bob Wolfe
Defensive Coordinator
Inside Linebackers

Bob Wolfe, 40, was named defensive coordinator last spring after serving as the inside linebackers coach in 1986. He recruits Northeast Ohio, including Cleveland's east side as well as the cities of Youngstown and Warren.

He also coordinates the team's "Incentive, Motivation and Pride" program, recognizing deserving players each week and at the end of the season.

Wolfe, a 1969 graduate of BGSU, returned to his alma mater after three seasons as the head football coach at Allegheny College in Meadville, PA. He has coached at all levels of football and, in 1972, coached with Moe Ankney at Ball State University.

While a student-athlete at BGSU, Wolfe played in the defensive backfield under Coaches Bob Gibson and Don Nehlen. He earned his degree in education and went on to serve as an assistant football coach at Ball State (1970-72), Washington & Jefferson (1973), and Youngstown State (1974-75).

He then turned his attention toward high school coaching. He began at Trinity High School in Garfield Heights, OH, in 1976. Wolfe remained there until 1980, when he was named head coach at Warren Harding High School in Warren, OH.

In 1982, he returned to the college level at the University of Cincinnati before being named head coach at Allegheny in 1983.

Bob and his wife Karen, a 1970 graduate of BGSU, are the parents of three children: Eric, 17, Kevin, 13, and Christine, 8.

Graduate Assistants

Bruce Gregory

Bruce Gregory is in his second season as a volunteer coach for receivers at Bowling Green. He has also served as the interim director of concessions since Jan. 1, 1987. He has worked as an assistant in the BGSU summer football camp the last two years.

Gregory, 26, was a football letterman at Western Maryland College where he was a wide receiver. He graduated from WMC in 1984 with a bachelor's degree in physical education. A 1979 graduate of South Kingstown High School in Rhode Island, Bruce is the son of BGSU Athletic Director Jack Gregory.

He and his wife Tracy reside in Bowling Green.

Steven Feyrer

Steven Feyrer joined the Falcon football program as a graduate assistant in June. He brings to Bowling Green two years of high school track coaching experience.

A 1986 graduate of Ripon College in Wisconsin with a bachelor's degree in physical education, Feyrer was a four-year letterman in football and a three-year letterman in track. He earned All-America honors as a wide receiver and was named all-conference three times. He owns Ripon's single game receiving record and is the school's all-time leading receiver.

Feyrer, who turns 23 on August 25, was just as successful on the track, where he earned all-conference honors and set school records in the long jump, 400, 800, 1600 and sprint medley relay.

Jay Hood

Jay Hood is in his second year as a graduate assistant coach at Bowling Green and is working toward a master's degree in physical education.

Hood, 23, was a four-year starting quarterback at Ohio Wesleyan University, where he was team captain for three years and established seven school passing records. He was also an officer in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and president of the Student Physical Education Board.

He graduated from Ohio Wesleyan with a degree in health and physical education. He later served as a student assistant at Ohio Wesleyan and has experience as a summer football camp counselor at both Bowling Green and Ohio State University.

Jim Smerz

Jim Smerz is in his first year as a graduate assistant coach for the offensive line at Bowling Green.

His professional experience is extensive and includes nine years of high school coaching at Navarre Fairless, Lorain Admiral King and Oberlin. Smerz has also been a health club manager since 1978.

A graduate of Defiance College with a degree in business administration, Smerz lettered two years in both football and wrestling.

Jim, 39, and his wife Carol will reside in Bowling Green.

Introducing . . .

MOE-town's Greatest Hitters

It began as a promotional theme last spring, a way of recognizing one of the many strengths on the 1987 Bowling Green football team. Today, photos of MOE-town's Greatest Hitters appear on schedule cards, posters, and, yes, even the football media guide.

Bowling Green Head Coach Moe Ankney has an optimistic view of the 1987 season, thanks in great part to the presence of his four returning All-Mid-American Conference defensive standouts.

- John Hunter, a 6-3, 220-pound senior linebacker out of Detroit, Michigan. After making 84 tackles and ranking among the MAC leaders in tackles for loss (17 tackles for 97 yards), Hunter was a unanimous first team All-MAC selection in 1986.

- Greg Johnson, a 5-11, 235-pound senior nose tackle also from Detroit. His coaches and teammates call him "Dirty" because he prefers to practice in an unwashed jersey. His opponents call him a problem, because of his quickness and mobility and his 92 tackles last season. Like Hunter, Johnson was a first team all-conference pick in '86.

- Joe Foley, a 6-1, 229-pound senior linebacker out of Gahanna, Ohio. Last season, he merely led the Mid-American Conference in tackles for loss (21 tackles for 88 yards) while finishing in a tie for second on the team in hits with 105. For that, he was named second team All-MAC.

- Kyle Kramer, a 6-3, 185-pound junior defensive back from Dayton, Ohio. Last season, Kramer was all over the field, making tackles behind the line of scrimmage and coming up with the big play in the secondary. He matched Foley's 105 tackles while also leading the team in interceptions with five. The MAC coaches named him second team all-conference.

Hunter, Johnson and Foley are out to earn their fourth letter at Bowling Green this fall. Kramer is a relative "youngster" in only his third year. But together, the quartet should give Coach Ankney plenty to smile about in '87. Who knows what Ankney's counterparts will be saying.

BG Coach Moe Ankney (with microphone) along with defensive standouts (l-r). Joe Foley, John Hunter, Kyle Kramer and Greg Johnson.

Ankney, a former defensive coordinator at the University of Arizona, understandably feels that defense wins championships. He'd like nothing better than to win a MAC title in his second year as head coach at his alma mater. So he has to like the prospect of fielding four returning All-MAC players on defense along with four other starters from 1986: DG Jack Coppess, SLB Erik Johnson, WCB Mike Holmes and SCB Ray Redd.

If recent history can be considered a useful tool for looking into the future, then the Bowling Green Falcons should once again be in the thick of the 1987 Mid-American Conference football race.

Bowling Green holds the distinction of being the MAC's winningest football team in the 1980s. The Falcons have won 44, lost 16, and tied 1 of their conference games the last seven seasons, giving them a slight lead over both Central Michigan (42-18-2) and Toledo (38-23-1). Bowling Green has finished either first or second in the MAC the last five years.

With 15 starters (seven on offense and eight on defense) back from a team that finished in a three-way tie for second place in the MAC last season, the Falcons figure to have the experience and personnel to be contenders.

Coach Moe Ankney's Falcons will feature proven ability at the skill positions on offense. However, Bowling Green will need some instant productivity out of four new starters on the offensive line, including the tight end spot vacated by All-MAC standout Gerald Bayless. Defensively, the Falcons return all but three starters from a year ago, including four all-conference performers.

THE OFFENSE-

Sophomore quarterback Rich Dackin, who passed for 1,197 yards and five TDs as a true freshman in '86, will direct the Falcons' I/Pro offense. While he is a proven passer and mobile enough to scramble out of the pocket, Dackin will be counting on an improved ground game to give the Falcons a better balance between the rush and pass in 1987. Last season, BG netted 997 yards rushing compared to 1,826 yards passing, enabling opponents to concentrate more on stopping the pass rather than the run.

Pushing Dackin will be junior Eric Smith, who started four games early last season before being sidelined by a thumb injury. Smith passed for 537 yards and one touchdown in seeing his first major duty at BGSU.

"Our goal heading into spring ball was to develop more confidence in our running game, and I think we accomplished that," said Ankney, a 1964 University graduate. "I think everybody on our team, the coaches, the offense and defense, feels that we can move the ball on the ground better than we did last year. That will really help us as we get into the season."

Senior tailback Jeff Davis, a 1,000-yard career rusher, returns to do the bulk of the ground work in '87 along with second team Academic All-American Mike Otten at fullback. Both give the Falcons some versatility. The pair combined for nearly 1,000 yards rushing and 400 yards receiving last season. Also looking for playing time will be junior tailback Mike McGee (173 yards and 1 TD in '86) and sophomore fullback Ron Viscounte (22 carries, 87 yards).

Bowling Green's wide receivers may be the best 1-2 combination in the conference. Flanker Ron Heard (25 receptions, 359 yards) and split end Reggie Thornton (20, 299) should be plenty to handle for defensive backs around the MAC. The Falcons were also planning on fleet-footed Ken Rankin (23, 273), but the senior split end injured a knee in spring practice and will be lost for the season.

Ankney said the Falcons will surely miss Rankin, an all-around athlete who holds the BGSU record in the long jump. But he adds, "We do think we have talented wide receivers. We're going to have to come up with the big plays, 20 yards, 30 yards, whatever. I think our backs are good, but I believe the best people we have to make the big plays are our wide receivers."

There are some holes to fill up front with four starters gone, including three who earned All-MAC honors: RG Mike Estep, RT Mark Nelson and TE Gerald Bayless. Among those who do return are starters Greg Studrawa at left tackle and Ken Schriener at center. The Falcons look for LG Neal Mahoney, RG Tom Addie and RT Mike Joyce to move into starting roles this season. However, a real battle has developed for the starting spot at tight end, where Kyle Hockman and Derrick Gant are nearly even heading into pre-season camp.

"Offensively, we have a lot of skill coming back. We have players who not only have skill but have experience. We have two wide receivers who were starters last year. We have tailbacks who have played a lot. We have fullbacks who have started and played. We have two quarterbacks who have started."

THE DEFENSE-

Personnel losses were not as heavy for BG's 50 shade defensive unit, where three starters must be replaced. BG will miss, however, All-MAC linebacker Paul Schweitzer, the 1986 MVP and leading tackler.

Still, four all-conference honorees are back. Linebacker John Hunter (84 tackles) and nose tackle Greg Johnson (92) were both first team All-MAC picks in 1986. Add second team All-MAC selections Joe Foley (105), a defensive end, and Kyle Kramer (105 and 5 interceptions), a free safety, and you have the nucleus of a very fine defensive unit. You also have the four players who join Coach Moe Ankney in this year's pre-season promotion at Bowling Green, "MOE-Town's Greatest Hitters."

Ankney feels all four players will present a problem for Falcon foes. "Foley and Hunter play outside linebacker. One is on one side of the field, and one is on the other. I think teams are going to have a difficult decision to make, whether they want to run toward John Hunter or do they want to run toward Joe

QB Rich Dackin

Foley. They've got a problem either way they go.

"Having a guy in the middle like Greg Johnson is going to cause people some problems. They have to block him with two people or he's going to make lots of tackles. Of course, the key to our secondary is free safety Kyle Kramer. The experience he has gives us consistency and soundness in the secondary. He also has the ability to make the big plays."

The Falcons are looking for big things from four other returning starters on defense: DG Jack Coppess, LB Erik Johnson, CB Mike Holmes and CB Ray Redd. Holmes, like QB Rich Dackin, was recognized by The Sporting News at the end of last season as one of the top "true freshmen" in college football. DT Derrick Carr, LB John Rolwing and DB Tony Parker figure to be the leading candidates to plug the holes left by graduated starters.

LB Larry Lambright saw extensive action in '86 and racked up 54 tackles (the eighth-leading total on the team) and three interceptions. He'll battle Erik Johnson for playing time at inside linebacker. DB Tony McCorvey also picked off three passes last season and should see action along with Ray Redd at the strong cornerback spot.

"The defense should be a real strong part of our team," said Ankney.

THE SPECIAL TEAMS-

Bowling Green must find a replacement for all-conference punter Greg A. Johnson. Part-time wide receiver Mark Bongers left spring practice as the likely candidate. Jason Zeller will handle the placekicking chores after splitting time with the graduated Paul Silvi in 1986. Zeller was perfect on extra points (4-4) and was 6-of-8 in field goals.

THE SCHEDULE-

The Falcons will be put to the test right from the start this fall. Bowling Green visits Penn State for a September 5 season-opener with the defending national champions. It marks the first time in history that a MAC team has started its season against a top-ranked team.

The non-conference schedule also includes an October 3 stop in Tucson, AZ, where Bowling Green meets Pacific-10 powerhouse Arizona. The UA Wildcats are coming off a victory in the Aloha Bowl over North Carolina. And to add a little extra color to the game, it marks the return of Coach Moe Ankney to the program for which he once served as defensive coordinator.

On the home front, Bowling Green plays a five-game home schedule, beginning with the September 12 opener against Youngstown State. The Falcons then host four MAC teams. Western Michigan comes calling on Homecoming, September 26. The annual backyard brawl between Bowling Green and Toledo will likely fill Doyt Perry Field on October 17, followed by the Parents' Day game with Kent State, November 7. The Falcons close the regular season at home against Central Michigan, a game which could have a real impact upon the MAC title picture.

*Note—Bowling Green and Miami were MAC co-champions.

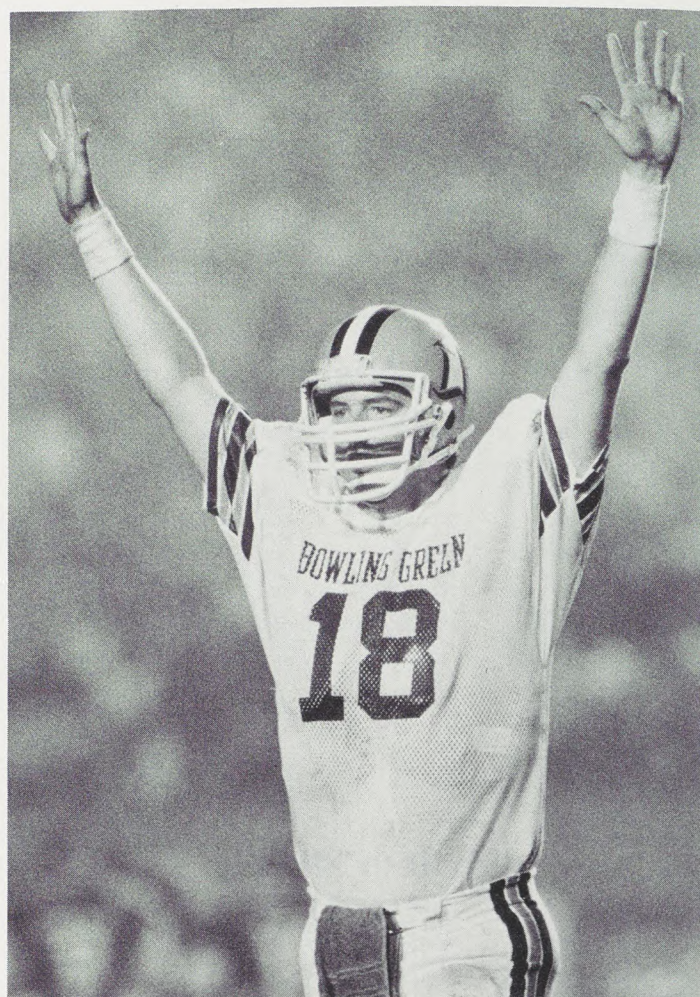

Bowling Green football has enjoyed a rich history of success since its first season back in 1919. The 1980s have brought added color and excitement with Bowling Green's reputation as the winningest Mid-American Conference team of the decade.

This success on the football field has mirrored a high level of achievement in all sports at Bowling Green the last seven years. Bowling Green teams have won 19 conference titles since 1980, 15 in the MAC and four more in the Central Collegiate Hockey Association. Thirteen teams have gone on to post-season play in the NCAA, NIT and in the California Bowl. Bowling Green's 1983-84 hockey team won the NCAA Division I championship.

Falcon football has been a leader when it comes to enjoying the sweet taste of success over the years. With great coaches like Warren Steller (1924-34), Robert Whittaker (1941-54), Doyt Perry (1955-64), Don Nehlen (1968-76), Denny Stolz (1977-1985) and now Moe Ankney leading the way, Falcon football teams have captured eight MAC Championships since Bowling Green joined the conference in 1952.

That success has on two occasions extended Bowling Green's football season to include two trips to the California Bowl in 1982 and 1985. Bowling Green is one of two MAC teams to have made the trip twice to Fresno, CA, for the Cal Bowl, the other being Toledo.

The Falcons have had just six losing seasons in the last 32 years, giving Bowling Green a 68-year football record of 347-211-47 for a winning percentage of .612.

Record-setting QB Brian McClure (1982-85).

Bowling Green's proud past also includes the NCAA Division II national championship and the school's first unbeaten season (9-0) in 1959.

The next season began one of the winningest decades in all of college football. From 1960 through 1969, the Falcons won 71 games, lost 22 and tied two for a winning percentage of .758. Among the nation's major colleges, only Alabama, Texas, Arkansas and Mississippi produced better records than Bowling Green during the 1960s.

Eleven Bowling Green players from that period went on to the National Football League, including All-American Bernie Casey, Mike Weger, Jamie Rivers and Bob Reynolds, who spent 12 years in pro football with the Cardinals and Patriots.

Former Falcons who are still active in pro football include Doug Smith, an all-pro lineman with the Los Angeles Rams, and Buffalo Bills tandem Martin Bayless and Brian McClure.

Some of the nation's best coaches have spent time at Bowling Green, as evidenced by the many names associated with the Falcon's Nest of Coaches, an organization which meets twice a year. Doyt Perry, of course, is still recognized as one of the winningest football coaches of all time with a 77-11-5 record over 10 seasons. Bo Schembechler of Michigan was an assistant coach with the Falcons in 1955. Bowling Green graduates now serving as head coaches at the Division I-A level include Moe Ankney '64, now in his second season at his alma mater, Larry Smith '62 at Southern California, Don Nehlen '58 at West Virginia, Jim Young '57 at Army, and Jerry Berndt '62 at Rice.

More than 45 former Falcon football players have been drafted by or played for a team in the National Football League, American Football League, World Football League, United States Football League or Canadian Football League.

Among them have been several players who have made significant contributions to their professional team - players such as Bernie Casey, a wide receiver with the Los Angeles Rams and San Francisco 49ers in the 1960s; Bob Reynolds, an offensive tackle with the St. Louis Cardinals for more than a decade; Jamie Rivers, a linebacker for three pro teams for nine years; Bob Schnelker, an offensive end with the New York Giants; Phil Villapiano, an all-pro linebacker with the Oakland Raiders and Buffalo Bills; Mike Weger, a Detroit Lions defensive back and Dave Preston, an all-purpose back with the Denver Broncos.

Currently, several former Falcons dot the rosters of professional teams. They include defensive back Martin Bayless and quarterback Brian McClure with the Buffalo Bills, center Doug Smith with the Los Angeles Rams, and John Park with the British Columbia Lions (CFL).

Two members of Bowling Green's Class of '87 were in NFL training camps this summer. Tight end Gerald Bayless was vying for a spot on the Cleveland Browns' roster, while offensive lineman Mike Estep was invited to the New York Jets' pre-season camp.

BG 20, Ball State 17

Nov. 8 at Doyt Perry Field — 20,104

Bowling Green built up an early 10-0 lead, but a Jason Zeller 21-yard field goal with 4:28 remaining broke a 17-17 tie and gave the Falcons a win over Ball State. BS outgained the Falcons 304-235 in total offense, but the Cardinals had two turnovers, while BG did not commit a turnover. Bowling Green took advantage of a partially blocked punt to set-up Jeff Davis' one-yard touchdown run. BG again scored after a 20-yard punt by BSU's John Diettrich with Rich Dackin hooking-up with Ronald Heard for a 40-yard touchdown pass down the middle. Zeller's game-winning field goal came following a 10-play drive that covered 77 yards for the Falcons. Ball State had scored on its last possession to tie the game at 17. On the winning drive, Davis carried six times for 33 yards. Dackin completed two-of-three on the drive for 42 yards.

Falcon Footnotes

- Bowling Green State University has the winningest record in the Mid-American Conference through the first seven years of the 1980s. The Falcons, who have won two of the league's last five championships, sport a conference record of 44-16-1 since 1980. Central Michigan is second at 42-18-2 and Toledo is third at 38-23-1.

Central Michigan holds a slight edge over BGSU in overall record. The Chippewas are 50-23-2 overall while Bowling Green is 48-28-1. Toledo is third at 47-29-1.

- Bowling Green has one of the best home field records in the country over the last five years. The Falcons are 23-2 at Doyt L. Perry Field since 1982. BG has a 15-game winning streak at home against Mid-American Conference opponents, dating back to October, 1983.

- Bowling Green has finished either first or second in the MAC five years in a row. The Falcons won the MAC title in 1982 and 1985, finished second by themselves in 1984, and tied for second in 1983 and 1986.

- Bowling Green is the only Mid-American Conference team this season that will play more than one non-conference game against a team that went to a 1986 bowl game.

The Falcons open the 1987 season September 5 by playing at Penn State, the defending national champion and Fiesta Bowl champion. BG then travels to defending Aloha Bowl champion Arizona in Tucson, October 3.

Defending MAC Champion Miami and Toledo both play at Miami of Florida, the No. 1 ranked team for much of 1986 until losing to Penn State in the Fiesta Bowl. Meanwhile, Central Michigan meets Minnesota, a 1986 Liberty Bowl participant.

- Bowling Green ranked second in the MAC in total defense last season, yielding an average of 322 yards per game. Of that total, 207.7 yards were allowed on the ground and a MAC-leading 114.3 yards were allowed through the air. Bowling Green ranked ninth in the MAC in total offense, averaging 90.6 yards rushing and 166.0 yards passing.

California Bowl VII

The Mid-American Conference is in the seventh year of an agreement that annually sends the MAC Champion to the California Bowl in Fresno, California. The game, played in Fresno State University's 30,000-seat Bulldog Stadium, pits the MAC champ against the champion of the Pacific Coast Athletic Association (PCAA).

The 1987 Cal Bowl is scheduled for December 12, 1987 in Fresno.

The MAC won two of the first three California Bowl games, before PCAA Champion Nevada-Las Vegas beat Toledo in California Bowl IV. However, UNLV later forfeited the game due to the use of ineligible players. The PCAA champ has won the last two California Bowl games.

Bowling Green is one of two MAC teams to have made the trip twice to Fresno, with Toledo being the other. The Falcons appeared in Cal Bowl II on December 19, 1982 and lost a 29-28 heartbreaker in which Fresno State rallied from a 21-0 third-quarter deficit.

Cal Bowl V featured a rematch between Bowling Green and Fresno State. This time, however, the Bulldogs dashed to a 51-7 victory on December 14, 1985.

The California Bowl is more than just a post-season football game. It is a community happening for San Joaquin Valley citizens who rally around a cause—a remarkable pediatric medical care facility, Valley Children's Hospital.

While every NCAA sanctioned college bowl game must have a stated beneficiary, the California Bowl is the standard bearer in that respect. The benevolence of the Greater San Joaquin Valley Sports Association is proudly displayed as every aspect of the Cal Bowl revolves around the well-being of the young patients at Valley Children's Hospital.

Fund-raising activities, including a 10K run, bike rally, coronation ball, and of course, the game itself, directly benefit the hospital. Entering its seventh year, the Cal Bowl has generated more than $100,000 for hospital equipment and services.

The concept of the California Bowl was born in the mid-1970s and became a reality in 1981 with the completion of Bulldog Stadium. The Cal Bowl is one of just two closed-end agreements matching the champions of two conferences. The other is the Rose Bowl.

Bowling Green Athletic Hall of Fame

One of the highest honors bestowed upon a Bowling Green State University athlete is induction into the BGSU Athletic Hall of Fame. Any former Falcon athlete out of school for at least five years, a coach or a contributor to BGSU athletics is eligible for induction. With the addition of five new members last winter, including former football players Dave McClain, Charles E. Perry and Doug Smith, there are now 96 members of the BGSU Athletic Hall of Fame. A portrait of each inductee is on display in the lobby of the BGSU Ice Arena. The 55 inductees with a football background are listed below.

Bowling Green State University

STUDENT RECREATION CENTER

Bowling Green State University offers a range of educational opportunities expected in a large university, yet retains the personalized small school atmosphere of its early years.

When Bowling Green Normal School opened its doors in 1914, there were 15 faculty members and all 158 students were studying to be teachers. Today the University has nearly 750 full-time and 200 part-time faculty and 17,100 students on its main campus. Degree programs are offered through the Colleges of Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Education and Allied Professions, Health and Human Services, Musical Arts, Technology, and the Graduate College. Within the undergraduate colleges are Schools of Art, Mass Communication, Nursing, and Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

The University offers more than 170 undergraduate degree programs, 75 master's degree programs and has 12 departments granting doctoral degrees in more than 40 specialty areas.

In addition to courses on the main campus, the University's Firelands College campus, located in Huron, Ohio, offers 17 two-year associate degree programs, as well as courses which fulfill the first two years of a bachelor's degree requirement. Firelands College enrolls about 1,100 students.

Fully accredited at the highest state, regional and national levels, the University has chapters of most national academic honor societies, including Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi. Bowling Green is also a member of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges.

The University's faculty members, 82 percent of whom hold the highest degree in their fields, include Fulbright Scholars, authors and nationally known researchers. The caliber of the faculty is reflected, too, in the number of academic programs which are regionally and nationally recognized, including the chemistry department which recently announced the appointment of an Ohio Eminent Scholar in Photochemical Sciences. The Ohio Eminent Scholar program was created by the Ohio Board of Regents to attract world class scholars to the state's universities.

Committed to teaching, faculty are scholars as well, generating new knowledge through independent research and involvement in University units such as the Population and Society Research center, the Center for Environmental Programs, the Center for the Study of Popular Culture, and the Social Philosophy and Policy Center. Bowling Green is also the site of the National Drosophila Species Center and the Mid-America Stock Center—the largest scientific facilities of their kind in the world—where University faculty assist in supplying some 400 species of fruit flies to scientists involved in genetics and cancer research around the globe.

The University's students come from throughout the United States and nearly 60 foreign nations. While most students are between the ages of 18-22, the number of those older than 25 is increasing. During the spring term of the 1986-87 academic year, there were more than 2,500 "non-traditional" adult students enrolled in undergraduate and graduate degree programs on a full- or part-time basis.

The focal point of the 1,250-acre campus is the nine-story Jerome Library, with its collection of more than 4 million items, including 1.4 million volumes plus thousands of journals, periodicals, microforms, government documents and other materials. Special sections of the library include the Center for Archival Collections which houses materials relevant to northwest Ohio history and the Sound Recording Archives with 400,000 recordings. The Institute for Great Lakes Research, located in Perrysburg, contains an extensive collection of materials on the shipping industry's past and present.

The University is continually refurbishing its more than 100 existing buildings and upgrading facilities to meet current needs. An example is the recently completed remodeling of West Hall, the former music building, to provide up-to-date facilities for the School of Mass Communication. Currently, Williams Hall, home to the history, sociology and political science departments, is undergoing major renovation. Also, numerous computer facilities have been installed and upgraded throughout campus.

A $3.65 million addition to the Business Administration Building is expected to be completed in 1988 and reflects the growth of the College of Business Administration in recent years.

President Paul J. Olscamp

The president of a university must provide the vision and inspiration if the institution is truly to become a place of learning, and that is exactly what Dr. Paul J. Olscamp has been doing since becoming the eighth president of Bowling Green State University in 1982.

With an announced goal to "move Bowling Green into the ranks of nationally important universities," one of Olscamp's first efforts was to work with the faculty in developing a Role and Mission Statement, a 27-goal document aimed at improving the quality of undergraduate and graduate students, the University's academic programs, the learning environment and the faculty and its resources.

However, Olscamp knows that very few of the University's plans will materialize without adequate financing. While state appropriations can be counted upon for day-to-day operations, other kinds of resources must be tapped if Bowling Green is to enhance its position as a university.

Steps have been taken to insure an additional endowment of nearly $50 million by the year 2000.

One plan, authorized by the University's Board of Trustees in 1986 and approved by the Ohio Attorney General, will restructure debt service obligations and is projected to result in a $35 million principal in less than 15 years. Interest on that amount should provide more than $3 million annually to the academic budget.

In addition, in 1984 the Trustees, at Olscamp's request, created an internal endowment fund of $4 million from various University reserves. The balance of that fund is currently $6.5 million and, if left untouched, is expected to reach $10 million in approximately five years at which point the annual interest of about $1 million will be used to further support academic programs.

Also, Bowling Green has recently completed its most successful fund raising program in history. The 75th Anniversary Fund generated nearly $15 million for the University, topping the announced goal of $12.5 million by almost $2.5 million. These funds are being used for a variety of purposes including graduate and undergraduate scholarships, faculty research, library holdings and special equipment purchases.

Improving and maintaining the physical facilities are a University priority and Olscamp has been instrumental in securing nearly $34 million in state capital improvement funds for renovation and new construction projects.

Students have always occupied an important place on Olscamp's agenda and several moves have significantly improved student life at Bowling Green. One has been the installation of computer labs in all University residence halls and other campus locations, reflecting Olscamp's desire to make it convenient for all students to have a background in computer usage.

An installment payment plan enabling students to defer fee payments over the course of a semester has been popular as has been a legal services program, the first in Ohio to employ an attorney for students.

Increasing minority representation on campus has also been a major effort of Olscamp's administration. A newly-created Office of Minority Affairs provides services to assist minority students and a director of minority student recruitment was added to the admissions staff to bolster efforts to attract more minorities to campus.

The Bowling Green president has made it a point to work closely with state government officials and legislators. He has testified about the needs of higher education before several legislative committees and has been a leading spokesperson for improved operating and capital budgets for higher education in the state.

Olscamp has continually emphasized the internationality of education and has made two trips abroad to further educational opportunities for University faculty and students. In 1983 he visited Bowling Green's study abroad programs in Spain, France and Austria.

In 1984 he traveled to China to strengthen existing exchange programs with universities in that country and to explore further opportunities for faculty and students to study in the People's Republic of China.

Olscamp brought further recognition to Bowling Green when, in 1987, President Ronald Reagan nominated him for a position on the board of the National Endowment for the Humanities, the federal agency designed to promote cultural programs and events in the United States.

Other highlights of Olscamp's first five years at Bowling Green include:

- a record level of alumni support through 12 Ohio chapters and 20 in other states and an increase in alumni chapter scholarships from 2 in 1982 to 24 in 1987.

- creation of Bowling Green's first endowed professorships, one in management and the other in finance.

- the University's first $1 million gifts. The first, from Harold and Helen McMaster of Perrysburg, resulted in the McMaster Leadership Institute, which is expected to have a significant impact upon the ways that science-based industries maintain their position in business. The second was a challenge grant from the Stranahan Foundation of Toledo to the University's Social Philosophy and Policy Center.

- development of a Photochemical Sciences Center, which is rapidly becoming the country's top center for the study of photochemistry, a multibillion dollar growth industry.

- appointment of an Ohio Eminent Scholar in Photochemical Sciences, the result of a $500,000 grant from the Ohio Board of Regents. The Eminent Scholar Program is designed to attract world class scholars to Ohio's campuses.

- membership for Bowling Green in the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges, the oldest university association in the country, comprising the nation's 143 best universities.

- creating NETWORK BG, a public service program using University expertise and facilities to aid area businesses, industries and organizations.

Born in Montreal, Olscamp received his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Western Ontario in 1958 and 1960, respectively. In 1962 he earned his doctoral degree in philosophy at the University of Rochester.

Later that year he accepted a position as an instructor of philosophy at Ohio State University. In 1963 he was promoted to assistant professor and in 1966 was awarded the rank of associate professor.

In 1969 he was named associate dean at Ohio State and a year later became vice president for academic affairs, dean of faculties and professor of philosophy at Roosevelt University.

He became executive assistant to the chancellor of Syracuse University in 1972 and later, vice chancellor for student programs.

At age 37, he was named president of Western Washington University in 1975 and guided that university for seven years before his appointment at Bowling Green.

He is married to the former Ruth Ilene Pratt, a native of Akron.

Athletic Director Jack Gregory

John C. (Jack) Gregory is in his sixth year as the director of athletics at Bowling Green State University. He was appointed to the position on July 15, 1982.

In Gregory's first five years at Bowling Green, the Falcons have enjoyed some of their finest moments in history, winning the 1984 national championship in ice hockey and claiming Mid-American Conference championships in numerous other sports, including two football championships, along with two trips to the California Bowl. In the last four years, Falcon teams have claimed league titles in ice hockey, football, men's basketball, men's golf, women's cross country and women's gymnastics. The women's basketball team is Bowling Green's latest MAC Champion, posting a perfect 16-0 conference record in 1986-87, winning the post-season MAC Tournament and participating in the NCAA Tournament.

Bowling Green achieved another notable accomplishment last year, finishing for the fourth time in the last five years third place or higher in the Jacoby Trophy standings. The Jacoby Trophy is awarded each year to the MAC school with the best overall record in women's sports.

Gregory came to Bowling Green during one of the most difficult periods in the school's 71 years of intercollegiate athletics, a time when BGSU and the Mid-American Conference were fighting for NCAA Division I-A status in college football. Behind his leadership, Gregory directed Bowling Green athletics through the period, making the Falcons one of the front-runners in achieving that goal.

During his tenure here, BGSU has proven to be a marketing and promotions leader in the MAC, as evidenced by record crowds in football and hockey. In 1983, 33,527 fans packed Doyt L. Perry Field under threatening skies to witness the annual college football classic between Bowling Green and Toledo. The school and MAC single game attendance marks fell that afternoon. The Falcon football team went on to set a season attendance record of 100,021, only to break that mark two years later, 1985, by drawing 112,110 for five home games.

Sell-out crowds for BG's hockey games have become the norm as well, making game tickets the hottest items in town during the winter. Gregory's leadership in the area of television has helped BGSU sports become a popular item in Northwest Ohio. BG football, basketball and hockey teams all attracted live television coverage last year.

Gregory, 58, has also been instrumental in the record-breaking development of the Falcon Club, the University's official athletic department booster club. Recent membership drives have encompassed the Toledo, Cleveland and Lima areas, resulting in unparalleled growth in cash and pledges. The Falcon Club has more than doubled its income and grown to such an extent that it compares favorably with any athletic support organization in the country.

A 1952 graduate of East Stroudsburg State College in Eastern Pennsylvania and holder of a master's degree in physical education from Temple University, Gregory came to Bowling Green from Yale, where he served for four years as associate athletic director. While at Yale, he was responsible for generating income, managing the university's 33-sport program and supervising staff operations.

Gregory began his professional career in 1952 as a teacher and coach at William Penn High School in New Castle, Delaware, and later at P.S. Dupont High School in Wilmington, Delaware.

In 1959, he returned to East Stroudsburg as head football coach and assistant professor of physical education. One of the most successful coaches in the school's history, Gregory was inducted into the East Stroudsburg Athletic Hall of Fame in October, 1983.

After six years at East Stroudsburg, Gregory was named assistant football coach at the U.S. Naval Academy, and in 1967, he was named head football coach at Villanova University. In 1969, he moved to the University of Rhode Island, where he served as head football coach for seven years.

In his 25 years on the high school level and at East Stroudsburg, Villanova and Rhode Island, Gregory's teams compiled a record of 132-69, including four undefeated seasons and seven league championships. He was twice selected as NAIA Coach of the Year, twice selected as Pennsylvania Coach of the Year and was named NCAA District Coach of the Year.

He was lured away from coaching in 1976 by the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League. He served in Green Bay's player personnel department for three years before moving on to Yale.

Jack and his wife, Peg, are the parents of two sons.

Doyt L. Perry Field

Bowling Green holds the MAC record for single game attendance (33,527).

Doyt L. Perry Field, with its 30,000-plus seating capacity, is celebrating its 21st year as the home of Bowling Green State University football.

Built in 1966 for approximately $3 million as a replacement for the 43-year-old University Stadium, Perry Field had a capacity of 23,272 until bleacher seats were installed in both end zones in 1982.

One of the largest and most attractive athletic facilities in the Mid-American Conference, Perry Field holds the conference records for single-game attendance.

On October 8, 1983, a huge crowd of 33,527 packed into Perry Field for the annual BG-Toledo game, establishing a school and MAC record for single-game attendance. The Falcons went on to set a season record, breaking the six-digit figure for five games with a total draw of 100,021. It marked the first time in history that Bowling Green averaged more than 20,000 fans for five home football games.

That figure was topped in 1985, when Bowling Green posted a perfect record (11-0) in the regular season and clinched the MAC Championship by shutting out arch-rival Toledo at Perry Field in November. More than 28,000 fans turned out that day, raising Bowling Green's season attendance to an all-time high 112,000, an average of 22,400.

Perry Field is more than just a football facility. The east side of the stadium includes dressing rooms, equipment and training rooms, along with the Athletic Department offices. The west side is in the process of receiving a face-lift. This fall, a new physical fitness center/weight room is scheduled to open its doors for all 19 intercollegiate athletic teams to use.

Also situated on the west side of Perry Field are the Falcon Club offices and clubhouse, the academic counselor's office, the track and cross country offices, as well as maintenance and storage areas.

Sitting atop the press box on the west side of the stadium is the plush Stadium Club. Now in its eighth year of operation, the Stadium Club's 106 theatre-type seats, which are all sold, provide loyal BGSU fans with one of the finest places to view a game in all of the Midwest. The President's Box, located on top of the east side of the stadium, provides luxury seating for President Paul J. Olscamp and other supporters of Falcon football.

Bowling Green won the first game ever played in Perry Field, defeating Dayton, 13-0, on October 1, 1966. Since that time, the Falcons have won more than 65 percent of their home games, compiling a 67-35-2 record in the 105 games played at Perry Field.

Bowling Green posted a 4-1 record at Perry Field last season. Over the last five seasons, Bowling Green is 23-2 in the friendly confines of Perry Field.

A multi-purpose facility, Perry Field has also hosted concerts, NFL exhibition games, and major soccer tournaments.

BGSU students are among the most vocal fans in the MAC.

Perry Field is named in honor of the man who led Bowling Green to a 77-11-5 record in his 10 years as the head coach of the Falcons. Doyt L. Perry was simply one of the greatest football coaches of his day. His .855 winning percentage over 10 seasons in the 1950s and 1960s remains one of the highest in football history. In fact, according to James Van Valkenburg, director of statistics for the NCAA, only two on the Division I-A list are above that figure—Knut Rockne at .881 (Notre Dame) and Frank Leahy at .864, (Boston College and Notre Dame).

Perry, 77, is as popular as ever in Bowling Green. An avid golfer, he spends his winters with wife Loretta in Florida. Each summer, he entertains his friends and former players at a golf outing. Former players and coaches return for the "Falcon's Nest of Coaches" meeting.

Known for his well-organized practices and attention-to-detail meetings, Perry never stopped thinking of ways to succeed. He was a winner in football and as a high school basketball coach. His basketball teams were 161-35 over nine seasons and his high school track teams won 70 county titles in nine years.

"First, I always tried to get the best assistant coaches possible," Perry would say. "Then we sought to eliminate mistakes as far as possible."

After stepping down as Bowling Green's head football coach in 1964, Doyt Perry remained as the BGSU Athletic Director for almost seven years.
